

S · SURRENDER

put it down for now

An encounter with an explanation you have been holding on to because the alternative is not knowing.

🕒 10 MINUTES

THE MESS

1. Name something you have already decided — a reason something happened, a story about why things are the way they are, a conclusion you landed on quickly.
2. Ask: what would you have to sit with if you set that explanation down for now? Not permanently — just for today.
3. Set it down. Don't replace it with another explanation. Just notice what is actually there without the frame.

Notice: whether the explanation has been more about comfort than accuracy.

NO OUTCOME REQUIRED.
