what comes into view

An encounter with a wider picture.

🕒 10 MINUTES

THE MESS

1. Return to the situation you started with — the way you first described it. Write it down again, in your own words.
2. Write what you've noticed since you began this set. Has the shape of the problem shifted? What's come into view that wasn't there before?
3. Write one thing you might do differently now that you're working with a wider version of the situation. Keep it small and specific.

Notice: the situation didn't change. What changed is the space you're working in.

NO OUTCOME REQUIRED.
