

E · EXECUTE

work the small space

An encounter with what becomes possible when you limit your options on purpose.

🕒 10 MINUTES

THE MESS

1. Choose something you're working on. Give yourself one rule: use only what you already have. No new research, no new tools, no waiting for better conditions.
2. Set a timer for 10 minutes. Work only inside that rule.
3. When the timer stops, write down one thing that happened that wouldn't have happened without the limit.

Notice: whether the limit felt like a wall or like a frame.

NO OUTCOME REQUIRED.
