

M · MONITOR

the unconscious dilemma

An encounter with the contradiction you are keeping unconscious because seeing it would require you to change.

🕒 10 MINUTES

THE MESS

1. Name one situation in your life that keeps feeling stuck, circular, or unsolvable — at work, in a relationship, in yourself.
2. Ask: what two things do you believe, want, or value that are in direct contradiction with each other inside this situation? Write both down.
3. Read both sides without resolving the contradiction. Let them both be true at the same time.

Notice: what it feels like to see both sides on paper simultaneously.

NO OUTCOME REQUIRED.
