

S · SURRENDER

drop the target

An encounter with a goal you're ready to stop chasing.

🕒 10 MINUTES

THE MESS

1. Name a number you set as a goal for yourself: a target weight, a savings figure, a follower count, a deadline you keep moving.
2. Ask whether chasing it still helps, or whether it's become its own thing, separate from why you set it.
3. If it's stopped helping, let it go for now. Keep the direction it pointed you in, but drop the number. Write down the direction with no number attached.

Notice: what loosens when the target is no longer the point.

NO OUTCOME REQUIRED.
